Acconeer receives an order from Chinese BEYD worth USD 16,500

At the end of September, BEYD had supplied Acconeer's sensors to five different customers, three of whom are active in the area of parking sensors and one each in level measurement in tanks and presence detection. The new order from BEYD includes Acconeer's radar sensor A111 and the recently launched IoT module XM122.

Lars Lindell, CEO Acconeer, comments: "We are very pleased with our collaboration with BEYD. They have in a very short time created an impressive list of customer projects in China and this order will go to meet the needs of these customers. Through their ability to add new customers, in combination with recurring deliveries of sensors to the existing ones, we see good potential for BEYD to continue to grow as a distributor"
